CHIEF TELLS OF ILLEGAL TRAFFIC

Compiles Figures on One Day's Observations by Two Police Officers

In a check on speeders made yesterday, Chief John D. Fraser of the Glendale police department reports 108 violations of the law in a territory averaging three arrests a day.

The check was accomplished with the aid of two police officers, Chief Fraser reports, stop-watches being employed. From 7:30 until 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning, at the corner of Park and Glendale avenues, the following violations were recorded:

22 cars.....31 miles per hour
19 cars.....33 miles per hour
1 car .....34 miles per hour
6 cars.....36 miles per hour
4 cars.....37 miles per hour

The check was made by stationing the two officers 150 feet apart, Chief Fraser states. At 12:15 o'clock they moved to the corner of Colorado boulevard and Cedar street, where for two and a half hours they made a similar check, with the following violations recorded:

27 cars.....31 miles per hour
15 cars.....33 miles per hour
9 cars.....34 miles per hour
2 cars.....36 miles per hour
1 car .....37 miles per hour
1 car .....38 miles per hour
1 car .....43 miles per hour

"This is not careful driving," says Chief Fraser, "and is bound to produce accidents. Our records show that there have been an average of 157 automobile accidents a month in the city of Glendale for the past four months, resulting in twenty-five people a month being taken to hospitals. In that four-month period there were seven lives lost by automobile accidents.

Plans of Police

"It is to protect life and property that the Glendale police department is endeavoring to enforce the laws. We are not working on technicalities and have made no arrests for petty violations such as improper lights or wrong turns in the past two and one-half years. In all arrests, an allowance of seven miles over the prescribed speed limit is allowed. This means that in a twenty-mile zone, a driver must be going twenty-seven miles an hour to be subject to arrest.

"We are trying to use good judgment in every case and are acting with absolute impartiality. The question of arrests for traffic violations in Glendale is squarely up to the people. Are the police to enforce the laws or not? And are the people going to stand behind them. In my opinion, this department is being unjustly criticized and I have the facts to prove it."

Judge Helps Couple In Hurry to Marry

According to a report received from Los Angeles, Miss Mildred M. Hughes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hughes of Glendale, and Ellsworth C. Wisecarver, also of Glendale, were united in marriage Tuesday, July 15, 1924, by Judge Fleming in Los Angeles.

Due to the fact that Miss Hughes and Mr. Wisecarver only had an hour in which to be married, pack their grips and catch a train they were scurrying about the courthouse yesterday afternoon seeking someone to perform the ceremony before their train pulled out. As all of the courts were busy and they did not have time to wait for the regular recess to be called, Judge Fleming came to their assistance. He put the matter before attorneys trying a case in his department and they consented to a recess long enough for him to officiate at the ceremony.

VICTIM OF LOCKJAW

LOS ANGELES, July 16.—A. W. Eversole is dead here today, a victim of lockjaw, following injuries sustained in an automobile collision.

Civic Center, Garbage, Disposal Plant And Alarm System Urged

Auxiliary Power Plant, Municipally Owned, Is Not Needed, Is Claimed; More Suggestions For Bond Issue To Be Made Later

Six reports by sub-committees of the Citizens' Bond committee, an organization consisting of a representative of each civic and service club in Glendale, and appointed at the suggestion of City Manager V. B. Stone and members of the City Council, were read and filed at the meeting held this morning in the Harvard High school auditorium.

The reports filed and recommendations made by the sub-committees were:

1 Additional fire stations and equipment, $60,000 bond issue suggested.

2 Modern fire and police alarm systems, approximate cost of $100,000 shown to install up-to-date systems to afford adequate protection.

3 Civic Center and City Hall expansion, $650,000 bond issue suggested for the purchase of the Harvard High school grounds and buildings and conversion into municipal buildings.

4 Bridges over Verdugo wash, committee suggests matter be held in abeyance until plans for taking care of the wash can be formulated.

5 Auxiliary power plant for Glendale, advises against a bond issue to install a municipal auxiliary plant.

6 Modern disposal of garbage, $50,000 bond issue suggested to build up-to-date plant immediately.

Reports which will be ready for consideration next week, according to the chairmen of the sub-committees assigned these tasks, will include: Enlarging water system and supply and acquisition of city parks.

D. H. Smith, general chairman, representing the Kiwanis club, presided at the meeting and Mrs. Frank Weller, representing the Tuesday Afternoon club, officiated as secretary.

Referred to Committee

All reports were received and referred to the committee as a whole, to be considered at the meeting to be held next Wednesday morning. A resolution passed last week provided that no action can be taken on a sub-committee's report for a week if a bond issue is recommended or suggested.

The first report read was from the sub-committee on additional fire stations and equipment. W. L. Twining, representing the Glendale Realty Board, who is chairman of the sub-committee, read the report. Other members are A. R. Eastman, representing the Glendale Clearing House association, and Owen C. Emery of the Glendale Bar association. The report follows:

Fire Department

"Your committee, after a thorough personal investigation of fire department improvements, including stations and apparatus, submit to you the following as our recommendations:

"We find the department in bad shape for giving efficient service, both as to apparatus and men, and we hereby submit for your information data covering these requirements.

"First, Exhibit 'A,' showing present equipment; also showing additions needed.

"Also Exhibit 'B,' being a map of the city of Glendale, showing districts served by present equipment marked in red; proposed districts with the addition of company No. 5 in blue.

"Also Exhibit 'C,' showing cost of needed buildings and equipment.

"Exhibit 'D' is the annual report of the Glendale fire department, that you may get some idea of our present efficiency.

"We have given this subject considerable attention and we feel that this additional equipment and buildings should be added to our present fire department for the protection of completed buildings and those that are continually being built in the different districts; and we recommend a bond issue of Sixty Thousand Dollars ($60,000) to cover the requirements as shown in Exhibit 'C,' which provide for a fairly well manned and equipped department and is the least that we should have to properly protect the city. State Fire Marshal Jay W. Stevens recommends practically the same addition to equipment and buildings.

"W. L. TWINING,
"A. R. EASTMAN,
"OWEN C. EMERY."

The cost of needed buildings and equipment, as listed in Exhibit "C" to the report, shows: One new building and lot, Station No. 4, $8,000; one 750-gallon triple combination pumper, $12,500; one new building and lot, station

Let Us Hope We Will Have Plenty of Power and That Rates Will Not Be Raised

Elsewhere in today's Glendale Evening News appears in full a report from a sub-committee of the Citizens' Bond committee in which it is stated that there is no need for a bond issue to establish an auxiliary power plant for the city. The sub-committee states that the Edison company, which supplies this city with power, is making preparations to meet any future emergency. The sub-committee, therefore, assumes responsibility for Glendale's future protection from a power shortage.

The Glendale Evening News has held—and continues to hold—that an auxiliary power plant would be the best insurance in the world against a power shortage and an increase in rates. The city manager takes the same view. The Kiwanis club and others are of the same belief.

However, the sub-committee of the Citizens' Bond committee believes the Edison company can meet future emergencies and that an auxiliary power plant owned by the city is not needed.

The Glendale Evening News is interested in securing protection of the city's industries and in having a rate that is not prohibitive. Incidentally, this newspaper believes that the part it took against the recent hysterical program to stop the industries—and payrolls—of Glendale was a considerable factor in securing more sane rulings.

The building of a city depends, to a large extent, on its industries, their payrolls, illumination, reasonable rates, and service. We sincerely hope the sub-committee, in deciding against an auxiliary power plant, will see to it that Glendale's electric power is not curtailed and that our rates are not increased.

Why Not First Get Progress On Sewerage?

In today's issue of The Glendale Evening News will be found many recommendations—and more are to follow—as to needed civic improvements, all of which can be made only by bond issues.

The Glendale Evening News always stands in favor of everything constructive in the way of city building, but, at this particular time, would it not be advisable to get the sewer construction well under way before going to the people and asking for large expenditures of money?

Why not get the confidence of the people of Glendale by pointing to the sewer connections with Los Angeles as being a project that is being successfully completed?

Too many irons in the municipal fire at once may not bring desirable results.

MIDDLE WEST IN BUSINESS SLUMP

Industrial Plants Running Short Time or Closed, Reports Banker

Business conditions are very slow in the middle west and from Illinois reports state that many industrial plants have closed down and that 75 per cent of the laborers are either out of work or are on part time, according to Herman Nelson, of 641 East Harvard street, manager of the Glendale Avenue branch of the Pacific-Southwest Trust & Savings bank, who, with Mrs. Nelson, returned home yesterday from a month's vacation trip.

Leaving California Mr. and Mrs. Nelson traveled east by rail, stopping at the Grand Canyon and Colorado Springs, and spending a few hours in Denver, where Mr. Nelson visited with the Kiwanis convention delegates.

Visit Old Home

Their destination was Britt, Iowa, Mr. Nelson's home town, where they formerly resided and where Mr. Nelson was engaged in banking. In Britt they spent four days with Mr. Nelson's parents and other relatives.

Going on to Chicago they motored through much of the agricultural country of Iowa and Southern Illinois. Mr. Nelson states that the corn in both states was badly retarded owing to a late and cold spring. He adds that only a favorable season will mature the crop satisfactorily.

Yellowstone Park

A visit in Chicago was followed by a trip to the Minnesota lakes, where they were entertained by relatives and friends. Coming west they stopped in Montana and then spent over five days in the Yellowstone park.

One of the delightful features of the trip was stopping in Washington and taking a motor trip along the Columbia River highway to Portland. The scenery along this great highway rivals that in Yellowstone, says Mr. Nelson.

FEDERAL AID OFFERED IN FIRE WAR

President Coolidge Wires To Governor Richardson; Flames Being Checked

WASHINGTON, July 16.—President Coolidge today offered federal aid to California to assist in checking the gigantic fires now sweeping Pacific coast forests. The offer of assistance was tendered through Governor F. W. Richardson.

The president's telegram to the California governor follows:

"Have noticed with deep concern the reports of the growing destruction from forest fires in your state. I trust you will advise me if effective aid can be properly extended by the federal government."

Concentrate Forces In Battle on Tahoe Flames

SAN FRANCISCO, July 16.—The entire Pacific coast breathed easier today as light rainfall in some sections and heroic work on the part of thousands of rangers and volunteers temporarily stayed the series of colossal fires which have been devastating some of the richest forests in the area.

With more than $2,000,000 worth of standing timber entirely destroyed today throughout the state and eight serious conflagrations still raging, more than 1,000 men conscripted yesterday were to be augmented today by additional forces in an effort to gain control over the various blazes.

With two mighty walls of flames rushing through Tahoe national forest officials were preparing to concentrate all of their resources on that blaze today.

Flames Uncontrolled

Two big fires were still burning uncontrolled in the Humbug mountain and Gooseneck mountain sections of Klamath national forest.

The former blaze has reached a point six miles distant from the town of Yreka and hundreds of townspeople are working alongside of forest rangers in an effort to prevent its spread in that direction.

The fire eating its way around the lower slopes of Mount Shasta was still uncontrolled today and the town of McCloud is again endangered, said reports reaching here.

The Esperanza fire in the Shasta national forest is under control after destroying 2,000,000 feet of fine standing timber.

Santa Barbara Forest Fire Checked, Is Belief

LOS ANGELES, July 16.—Fire fighters battling the week-old blaze in Santa Barbara national forest were holding their own today and still had the flames checked, although fresh outbreaks are feared at any moment.

Temporarily, at least, forestry officials said, the advance on the Ridge Route from Pine and Fish canyons had been halted.

Two new fires, one on Mount Wilson and the other on the trail to Mount San Gabriel, called out hundreds of fire fighters, who are believed to have gained control. The San Gabriel blaze, threatening heavily wooded sections, is the most serious.

Light Rains Help Fire Fighters In North

SPOKANE, Wash., July 16.—Higher humidity and light rains have somewhat checked the forest fire hazard in the northwest today, although fires along Pine creek canyon near Kellogg, Idaho, and in northeastern Washington continued to burn with menacing rapidity.

Scores of persons have been driven over the mountains by the Pine creek blaze, which wiped out numerous ranches and swept thousands of acres of timberland. The fire stretches along a 10-mile front. Surface buildings of four mines were destroyed.

BADGE BANDIT HEARING IS POSTPONED

DETROIT, Mich., July 16.—Harry J. Dunlap, notorious petting bandit wanted on the Pacific coast for murder, was arraigned this afternoon on a fugitive warrant. Hearing of the case was postponed until July 18, pending arrival of California officers.

RICHARDS AND WILLIAMS WIN MATCHES

PARIS, July 16.—Vincent Richards and R. Norris Williams, II, were the lone American survivors in the Olympic tennis championships when the singles were finished today. The two players advanced to the round before the semi-finals. Williams won his match after a hard fought struggle from Kehrling of Hungary. Scores: 6-4, 6-3, 3-6, 4-6, 6-3. The American was badly handicapped by his left ankle, which was injured, and he hobbled about the court on one foot throughout the match. Richards was hard pressed to win from Manuel Alonzo of Spain, it requiring four sets before the match was completed. In the women's singles Miss Eleanor Goss of the United States was eliminated by Mlle. Vlasto of France, leaving only two other Americans in the women's competition—Miss Helen Wills, American champion, and Mrs. Marion Z. Jessup. Other survivors in the women's singles were Mrs. Molla Mallory, former American champion, playing for Norway; Senorita Alvarez, Spain; Mlle. Golding, France; Mrs. Shepherd-Barron, England; Mlle. Vlasto, France, and Miss Kathleen McKane, England.

City Manager Tells C. C. Directors Conditions In Present Power Shortage

"The development of steam power plants to supplement the electricity generated through the hydro-electric plants of the Southern California Edison company, will insure the people of this region against any recurrence of the present power shortage," V. B. Stone, city manager, told the directors of the Chamber of Commerce at their weekly meeting last night, in a resume of his recent trip to Huntington Lake to learn at first hand the actual conditions bearing on the shortage of power.

"When the Florence tunnel through the mountains is completed next year, draining an immense flow of water into Huntington lake, any fear of another shortage will be effectually dissipated."

More Power Lines

The stringing of additional power lines, Mr. Stone declared, will do away with the danger that exists in the event of the present system being interrupted by storm or accident, and he also stated that the amount of power that is being diverted to the Southern California Edison company from power companies in the north is so small as to be practically negligible.

"One northern company," said Mr. Stone, "offered to divert its surplus to the Edison company at 5 cents per kilowatt at the transformer, which would mean that it would cost about 9 cents here, and companies in Oregon and Washington, that had been planning to divert their surplus to Southern California, were compelled to suspend the negotiations on account of conditions in their own territory."

Compromise Urged

Paul E. Stillman, chairman of the advertising committee, reported that Attorney Bert P. Woodard, who has been retained to defend the suit filed against the Chamber of Commerce by Charles R. Stuart, advertising expert, is in favor of making a reasonable compromise with Mr. Stuart, which the latter's attorneys are willing to consider on the basis of $750, although the suit calls for $1500. Mr. Stuart's pledge of $250 to the advertising fund Mr. Stillman stated, would enter into the negotiations for a settlement of the suit and would have an important bearing on the figure to be agreed upon.

L. H. Wilson, a member of the advertising committee, strongly opposed any suggestion of a compromise and declared that he would fight the case out in court rather than to submit to what he described as a gouge where the money of the people of Glendale is concerned.

Mrs. E. B. Moore, chairman for Glendale for the children's concerts at the Hollywood Bowl, asked the co-operation of the board to secure automobiles to carry the children to the concert that is to be held this afternoon. Two trucks and touring cars were pledged last night, and Secretary E. F. Sanders secured other machines this morning.

W. J. Curren, chairman of the fire prevention and flood control committee, reported that his committee had practically completed its work in the organization of the Glendale division of the Angeles Forest Protective association, as the fire fighters are now ready for a call since the formation of the various units.

P. J. Hayselden announced the meeting of the various fire fighting units that is to be held tonight in the council chamber at the City Hall at 7:30 o'clock, at which time further steps for the perfecting of the organization's plans will be taken.

Rooms for Delegates

The need for accommodations for the delegates to the Presbyterian synod, that will meet in Glendale from July 24 to 31, was stressed by J. A. Newton, 154 South Brand boulevard, in a request for the active co-operation of the Chamber of Commerce in securing rooms for the visitors from Calfiornia, Nevada and Arizona who will be here at that time.

Attendance at the banquet of the Greater San Fernando Valley association, to be held at the Oakmont Country club tonight at 7 o'clock, was urged by George B. Karr, one of the Glendale directors of the association.

On account of the absence of Secretary Sanders from the city next week the directors postponed the next meeting until Tuesday, July 29.

Vice-President D. H. Smith presided in the absence of President W. E. Hewitt.

Miss Lulu Teager of 644 North Louise street was found dead in bed this morning, Wednesday, July 16, 1924, by her brother, A. W. Teager of that address. The sudden end was not altogether unexpected as the deceased had been in poor health for some time. Funeral arrangements are in charge of the L. G. Scovern company.

Miss Teager was 46 years old at the time of her death. She was born in Memphis, Tenn., December 1, 1877. She had lived with Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Teager at the above address for the past three years.

HUGE THRONG WELCOMES AMERICAN FLYERS

Wife of British Aviator On Long Flight First To Greet Visitors

BULLETIN

LONDON, July 16.—A. Stuart MacLaren, British round-the-world flier, is six hours overdue in his hop from Yeteforu island to Paramishara island in Japan, according to a dispatch received here tonight.

Fears have been expressed for his safety and the Japanese government has sent out destroyers to search for his plane.

CROYDON, Eng., July 16.—America's round-the-world fliers, who hopped off from Paris at 11:04 o'clock this morning, arrived here this afternoon.

The fliers were given an enthusiastic reception by waiting people as the three ships winged their way easily to earth.

The American planes were sighted at 3:50 p. m. and landed at 4:07.

Thanked by Woman

One of the first of the throng that rushed out on the field to greet the American pilots was Mrs. Stuart MacLaren, wife of the British round-the-world flier, who hopped off this morning from the Island of Yeterofu, in the Japanese group, for Paramashira in the Kuriles group.

She congratulated Lieutenant Lowell Smith, the American flight commander, and thanked him for the aid the Americans gave her husband when his plane was disabled in India.

Lieutenant Smith told Mrs. MacLaren he "wished her husband luck on his flight."

Greeted at Sea

A number of British planes went out to sea to meet the Americans and escorted them in.

There was no trouble on the flight, Lieutenant Smith said.

Letters of greeting from the king, Ambassador Kellogg and Premier MacDonald were presented to the airmen. Later they were taken to the Croydon hotel, where they were guests at an informal luncheon.

MOYSE, WHITE TO COMPILE REPORT

Joint School Committee to Submit Conclusions to Two Boards

The joint committee representing the Glendale Union High school board and the city Board of Education met last night at the Harvard High school and authorized Principal George U. Moyse of the high school and Superintendent Richardson D. White of the city schools to draft the conclusions of the committee in written form and present them at a joint meeting of the two boards, to be held 7:30 o'clock Thursday night, July 24, at the Harvard High school.

The committee has been making a general survey of present and future school needs within the city of Glendale, with a view to bringing the educational plant to a point of efficiency commensurate with the demands placed upon it.

May Call for Bonds

While neither Mr. Moyse nor Mr. White is in a position to make public the findings of the committee until after its written report has been presented to the joint boards at the meeting next Thursday night, they admit that the proposed plan of expansion is a very comprehensive one and will in all probability call for a bond issue.

The Glendale Union High school board was represented at last night's meeting by H. W. Yarick and George U. Moyse, W. F. Tower being absent by reason of illness; while the city Board of Education was represented by D. J. Hibben and Richardson D. White, E. H. Learned being out of the city.

CLUB WOMEN AID COMMUNITY WORK

Start of Junior Auxiliary Is Noteworthy Example Of Work Done

EAGLE ROCK, July 16.—A survey of the year's work done by the Women's Twentieth Century club shows that co-operation has been lent to many local organizations, the most noteworthy accomplishment being the creation of the junior auxiliary.

The club co-operated with the Community Players, which organization meets regularly at the clubhouse twice a month free of charge, working in conjunction with the Drama section.

The Junior and Juvenile Music clubs of Eagle Rock also use the clubhouse free of charge. They are said to be the only members in the National Federation accorded such a privilege.

The Music section of the club has a plan for next year, which will offer opportunity to musical women of the valley for fine training in choral work. Details of the plan will be announced later.

A Bible section under the direction of Mrs. Abigail Sheriff will also be established.

The House committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Alice Winters reports $1300 received in rentals.

Earns Over $1000

The Ways and Means committee has earned over $1000 during the year. It is necessary, in order to keep the clubhouse and the club activities up to the standard that this amount be provided, the report states, as the rentals, dues, fees and other sources of income will not meet all obligations.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Houk left yesterday by motor for a two weeks' trip to northern points. They will visit San Francisdo and probably drive on to Portland.

Mrs. Robert Van Sands, who has been visiting her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Van Sands, of Sumner avenue, has returned to her home in Chicago after a visit of several months in Eagle Rock.

CITY'S BUSINESS TO BE SURVEYED

Industrial Engineer Will Assemble Data About Trade Resources

BURBANK, July 16.—An industrial survey has been authorized by the Chamber of Commerce and Merle N. Alderman, industrial engineer of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, is already at work on it.

The Chamber of Commerce board considers itself fortunate in securing the services of Mr. Alderman at this time, as the demand for his services from other quarters is said to be great. It is believed that the southern California communities which first are backed up with such surveys will have the advantage in the present campaign for bringing industries to the district.

Plan Bargain Days

A meeting will be held at the City Hall tomorrow night, under auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, to consider the matter of holding a regular monthly "bargain day" for all local merchants. This will be taken up and discussed, the idea being to find out how many of the local merchants would be willing to enter an agreement for putting on such sales once a month.

George Bunton, secretary of the Van Nuys Chamber, who spoke before a committee a week ago will be at the meeting tomorrow night, and will tell of the success and the methods employed by Van Nuys merchants in making the scheme a success.

A. R. Hathorn is to be found these days in the office of the city clerk, where he is helping his wife during the absence of City Clerk F. S. Webster. As assistant to Mr. Webster, Mrs. Hathorn is in charge of the office during the vacation of its chief.

Conservation Is Required Regulation Of Traffic Plan To Can Fruit And Eat More Of It

By Gil A. Cowan

Not for one minute does Glendale want to think that the steam plants of the southland or the "borrowed" power from the north will in any way permit the greater use of electricity. Instead, these last resort measures are a warning signal for still greater conservation.

Also, there is no question but what the crux of the situation is not yet reached and unless tremendous economies are effective immediately there will be no lights after September 1, if we are to believe reports broadcasted by the state railroad commission, as well as the power interests.

Now then, what is Glendale, entirely dependent on the Edison company's supply, going to do about it? Sit idly by and trust to Providence?

And what is the Edison company going to do for Glendale when it has nothing but rehabilitated steam plants turning out but 1 per cent of the normal amount of power used by southland industries and municipalities and householders?

Perhaps the problem is overdrawn. Perhaps not. The best thing is for Glendale to assure itself a domestic supply for any emergency such as this. The proposal that this city install an auxiliary power plant is not to be forgotten.

Will Marsh, superintendent of the state motor vehicle department, is the latest to admit the futility of the present system to regulate traffic conditions by imposing fines and jail sentences, it is reported.

Mr. Marsh is a very conscientious official, this writer knows. He has done much to standardize the patroling of county highways and make them safe for motorists. He favors the liberal interpretation of the law, but thoroughly believes in its enforcement.

One would believe that Mr. Marsh would favor the elimination of glaring headlights in the following manner: When a motorist is arrested with illegal lenses it should be the duty of the traffic officer to escort him to a store and advise him in the purchase and adjustment of dimmers, for which a fee would be charged to pay for the officer's time. Likewise, there should be a fee for information that a tail light is not burning, a tire is flat, a load is dragging, etc.

The useful employment of motor patrolman, rather than making "revenoo" collectors out of them would be commendable. In cases of reckless driving, excessive speeding, cutting in, hogging the road and other malicious misdemeanors the officer should file written reports which in turn would require explanation before duly authorized traffic experts who would file charges against offenders as they saw fit.

Organized effort to collect fines from hapless victims has seen its day and a new deal should be demanded of the state legislature.

Assemblyman Frank C. Weller might well incorporate revision of traffic laws as a principal plank in his platform for re-election.

While corn and wheat are going up in price, particularly the latter, fruit is cheap this year, comparatively speaking, as sugar will be cheaper. Therefore, the housewives will do well to plan to can what they can, as the old saw goes.

There is nothing quite so enjoyable for the morning meal as a dish of fruit, either fresh or cooked. At lunch you can have pie with a fruit filling, and in the evening's dinner bill a fruit cocktail or dessert is in order.

RELIEF SHIP IS GRIPPED IN ICE

Coast Guard Cutter Unable To Rescue Starving Alaskan Natives

By ROBERT THORNBURG
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, July 16. — Stranded in the icy floes of the Arctic circle, thousands of miles from civilization, the romantic United States coast guard cutter, Bear, for the first time in her half century's history has been forced to abandon the annual cruise for the relief of natives and white settlers in "the land of the midnight sun."

A harrowing tale of suffering, of the cruelest Alaskan winter in years, of entire native villages wiped out by cold and starvation —of gallant fights against the ice, was contained today in a radiogram to the United States coastguard from Commander C. S. Cochrane, skipper of the Bear.

Vessel Is Damaged

The Bear is wedged in the ice at Kotsenbue sound, her hull rammed and propeller broken, according to the radiogram. Further progress north was impossible and the remainder of the cruise was abandoned. The cutter sailed from San Francisco in May with Commander Bartlett, Arctic pilot of the naval airship Shenandoah, on board. Bartlett was scouting for a possible flight of the Shenandoah to the north pole. It was the Bear's fiftieth annual cruise to the north.

ARTILLERY SALVO READY FOR DOGS

Raiders of Goat Herds Will Face Fire of Angry Tujunga Owners

TUJUNGA, July 16. — "Wouldn't it get your goat?" is a fighting phrase in Tujunga.

Five different persons in as many different sertions of town have reported attacks on their pets by vicious night-prowling dogs, which have killed two and badly chewed several others.

Miss Stella Kean of North San Ysidro street, Mrs. Ormsby of South Marshall street, Harry Dye, who bought the Farr herd of goats, Miss Elizabeth Benedict of East El Centro street and a man on Haines Canyon road have had their places visited by the bloodthirsty hounds.

Ancient flintlocks and howitzers have been re-commissioned and oiled in preparation of the next foray of the dogs and the owners of bleating animals are muttering darkly, "Gosh, but that gets my goat!"

A circus clown in his first season on the road is called "First of Mays," in his second year "Johnny Come Lately," and after that a "Producing Clown."

URGE ALL ALIENS BE NATURALIZED

Former Missionary to Japan Suggests Deportation After Ten Years

All aliens who have lived in the United States ten years and do not become naturalized at the end of that time, should be deported, declared Dr. Julius Soper, of 1305 North Maryland avenue, for many years a missionary in Japan, in an address delivered before the Glendale Exchange club yesterday at the Harriett Mae Tea room.

On July 16, 1873, or just 51 years ago today, Dr. and Mrs. Soper and two other missionaries left San Francisco by boat for Japan and arrived there twenty-two days later. He told of the early rule in Japan and how he saw things change during the time he served as a missionary in that country.

From 1603 to 1868 the real emperors of Japan did not rule, Dr. Soper said. In 1603 the rule was wrenched from the rightful rulers by a powerful man and for nearly three centuries the descendants of this man ruled Japan, the speaker said. He took the title of "generalissimo" but when the treaty with the United States was signed, the person in power signed it as the "great ruler." This act led to an open revolt and in 1868 the power was restored to the emperor, he said.

CASTLES OF OLD WORLD FOR SALE

Lack of Ice Is Obstacle To Any Purchases by American Citizens

News comes from Europe that a number of minor monarchs are offering their thrones for sale, and are looking to America for purchasers. So, if you have a desire to get into the king business and a few thousand dollars to invest, here's your chance to acquire a crown, throne and royal castle.

It should be remembered, however, that life in a royal castle isn't always as pleasant as the movies would have us believe. Although, as a king, you will be addressed as "your majesty," and be attired in royal robes, you will have to wait while your bath tub is filled a bucketful at a time when you want to take a bath. For the castles advertised for sale are without plumbing.

Ice in Winter

And while, as ruler of the realm, you will acquire a coat-of-arms you will have to go without the convenience of ice; for there are no refrigerators in the castles in question, and even if refrigerators were installed there would be no ice to go in them except in the winter time.

Taking it by and large, there's a lot more enjoyment in being a plain American citizen than there is in being his royal highness of something or other—particularly during these warm days when a fresh, crisp salad just off the ice, a tall pitcher of iced lemonade or a dish of ice cream seems to hit the right spot.

American democracy has its advantages, and a well-filled refrigerator is one of them.

Tennis, the word, is believed to be derived from the French "tenez" meaning "take it" or "play it."

Makes Home In Glendale

C. E. HARVEY, assistant supervisor for Southern California for the Maxwell-Chrysler Corporation, picks "The Fastest Growing City in America" as the best place to live. The Harvey residence is at 332 West Lomita avenue.

The charms of Glendale as a place to live made such a strong appeal to C. E. Harvey, assistant supervisor of the Maxwell-Chrysler Motor Car company, immediately after coming to assume his duties in this territory, that he bought his present home at 332 West Lomita avenue and settled down as a resident of this city.

Mr. Harvey has been associated with the Maxwell-Chrysler organization in his present capacity for three years, two of which were spent in the Kansas City territory and the past year in the Southern California and Arizona district. Previous to that he worked with Mr. Chrysler in the Kansas City district in charge of sales for the Buick division of the General Motors for five years, being selected for his present responsible position when the latter assumde charge of the Maxwell plant.

The Harvey residence is now being extensively enlarged and remodeled and, when completed, will be one of the most commodious residences in Glendale, as Mr. Harvey is anxious to provide the utmost in comfort for his wife and little daughter.

He shows his faith in his firm's products by driving a Chrysler Imperial and a Maxwell club coupe, and he swears by both of them.

Before settling on Glendale Mr. Harvey visited a large number of other cities in Southern California, but Glendale won the palm by its ease of access to other points in the territory and its home-like atmosphere.

CAT CLUB HOLDS ANNUAL BANQUET

Chicken Dinner for Members Helps Increase Funds Of Organization

The third annual chicken dinner of the Glendale Cat club was served last night from 6:30 until 8 o'clock, at the home of Miss Clarabel Grim, 1650 Grand View avenue. Dr. Libbie J. Ashcroft, president of the club, assisted Miss Grim in serving the numbers of club members and friends who attended the affair.

When the last of the diners had pronounced Miss Grim's chicken excellent and her biscuits the best ever, and when at last they had even tired of petting her myriad cats, kitties and kittens, the tables were cleared and a social time enjoyed. Approximately $15 was made for the club as a result of the dinner, Dr. Ashcroft reports.

Taking the "If" Out of Life

By C. H. Woodward

FROM the cradle to the grave there is a big "if" in the life of man. That "if" shadows every effort, every endeavor, every attempted achievement. It is the "if" of health, of freedom from disease, of continued existence.

"If I can keep my health—if I can get rid of disease—if I can continue to live," prefaces practically every one of life's undertakings. How many times have you uttered these things yourself? How does this "if" stand in your way today?

Why not take the "if" out of life? You can, if you will. Just a few minutes' thought—a little intensive, clear thinking—and the way is made clear.

To keep your health you must keep free from disease, because health is merely the normal condition of life—it is freedom from disease. What is this thing disease? To keep free from disease is merely to keep free from altered or changed function of the life-cells of the body, for disease is merely changed function of the life-cells.

What causes the life-cells to change their function? Interference with the law of their being. This interference may be a denial of the necessary material out of which they can continue to operate. We eat only to supply such material. From whence do they draw the material they use in carrying on their functions? From the circulating blood stream of the body the blood flows past every life-cell. The life-cell takes from it the 16 elements required every minute of their existence to carry on normal function. The blood stream gets these elements only from the things put into the mouth. If the things put into the mouth do not contain these 16 elements, then the blood becomes depleted of them—the well runs dry, as it were—and the life-cells, deprived of their necessary material, begin to die. They cannot go on naturally according to the law of their being. This change is disease. In one body it may be manifested as goitre, in another as cancer, in another as palsy, in another as typhoid fever, in another as asthma, in another as diabetes, and on down the whole line of names we have created to indicate a condition of changed function.

If you deny to your blood stream all source of replenishment or supply—in other words, if you put nothing into your mouth—the cessation or stopping of all function will be inevitable in a short time, but it will not be any more inevitable than if you substitute for the 16 elements in balance-relation, some substances which do not contain all these 16 elements in balance-relation. It will be just as inevitable, but be a little longer in happening, and after a period of distress and disease.

There is the "if" in your life. Why not take it out? It is not any more possible to make natural blood out of denatured food, than it is to make an angel food cake out of sawdust. Blood requires just as definite a mixture of elements as does a brick, or a cement walk, or a loaf of bread. The 16 elements nature put there during the formation of the body prior to birth, and which, after formation, were continuously replenished and resupplied from the blood stream of the mother up to the hour of birth, and which source of supply was forever severed by the act of birth, must be put back day by day. That is why we eat.

Not just anything you put into your mouth is food. Food is only some substance in nature that can supply all or part of the 16 elements in balance-relation. Nothing else is food. What is NOT food, is poison. What is poison? It is any substance put into the body which throws out of balance-relation some or all of the 16 elements of which the blood is composed.

Every human body contains potassium, yet a teaspoonful of potassium would poison and kill. Every human body contains phosphorus, yet a teaspoonful of phosphorus would poison and kill. Every human body contains iodine, yet a teaspoonful would poison and kill. Why? Because such an amount would upset and destroy the balance-relation of that substance with the other fifteen.

Every denatured natural food-substance has had the balance-relation of the elements it contains upset and destroyed. The poison effect is just as certain, though not so quick acting, and being less excessive may to a considerable extent be neutralized by the body, because the effect is slower acting, but the accumulated effects of the taking into the body of denatured food results in the thing we call disease.

Did you know that only in a drop of normal healthy blood, a handful of fertile earth, and a natural grain of wheat, are to be found the 16 elements of which every normal living creature is composed?

That is why more than 74 human ailments—this thing we call disease by more than 74 names—have responded to the regular daily use of Whole Grain Wheat, when all other means of correction have failed.

Disease is unnatural. The Creator never intended man to be diseased. Disease is of man's own making and creation. It is merely the penalty nature imposes for a violation of the law of life.

Whole Grain Wheat is used and indorsed by doctors and scientific men of the highest standing. It is the natural wheat berry just as it comes from the harvest field with nothing added, nothing lost, and nothing taken away, cooked under a new method of cooking that is protected by the United States and Canadian governments, and is the first wheat that has ever been cooked ready to eat that is identical with the raw, ripe grain in its constituent elements.

Whole Grain Wheat is available only through the local Food and Health Clinic in each community, and in cases of one dozen tins (sufficient for twenty-four days for one person) at $2.25, or in cases of four dozen at $8.30, delivered.

A Remarkable Guarantee

Whole Grain Wheat is guaranteed to improve the user physically and mentally when used twice daily for 24 days, or money refunded.

Ask the Food and Health Clinic how you can step out of the stagnation of disease into the powerful potency of health, and thus reach over into Eternity and take from it the Time that is rightfully yours.

Daily Greeting To News Readers

As there comes a warm sunbeam into every cottage window, so comes a love-beam of God's care and pity for every separate need.—Nathaniel Hawthorne.

OUR NAVY

Judge Wilbur, secretary of the navy, is conscientiously engaged in trying to inform the public, and Congress, that our naval program has been neglected and that our navy is inadequate and not up to the strength the Washington conference allowed us. Secretary Wilbur, when he took his place in the president's cabinet a few months ago, stated that in his opinion an adequate navy was the best insurance against war. Even the late President Wilson, deeply as he abhorred the thought of building up a great military machine of any kind, saw the necessity of a powerful navy and recommended a building program that would make our navy the strongest in the world.

It was the fear such a contingency inspired that made possible the Washington conference, the object of which was to stop the insane competition in naval construction that was contemplated and to fix the relative standing of the great navies of the world.

The war-exhausted nations of Europe breathed a sigh of relief when, at this conference, Secretary Hughes offered to forego naval pre-eminence for the United States and suggested that the British and American navies should be of equal strength and Japan should occupy second place. The standing of the three great navies was then fixed and stated mathematically as 5—5—3.

The Washington conference was praiseworthy in its aims and influences. It was an important step toward the limitation of armaments and world peace and our attitude was diplocatic for it could not fail to win the admiration and gratitude of nations who were unprepared to build up a big fighting machine.

But Secretary Wilbur now points out that the United States has made herself ridiculous by falling into second place. Great Britain has not violated her arrangement, neither has Japan, but we, by our own neglect, have fallen into second place, and the ratio now stands 5—4—3. In the face of this, our magnanimity in throwing away naval supremacy becomes ridiculous.

Even those who are very much opposed to military strength of any kind are disturbed by this condition of affairs. Reasonable preparation to withstand attack is the best insurance against it and the United States cannot afford to drop behind what the Washington conference allowed her in the way of naval strength.

CONGRESSMEN'S RECORDS

People all over the country were very bitter in their criticisms of the last Congress, and very justly so. Congressmen elected as Republicans thwarted the administration in every move and the constructive results accomplished were negligible. Ask anyone and he will tell you that Congress was refractory and the session was fruitless.

But, what kind of people are the constituents of these Representatives and Senators? Are they ready to do their duty, or will they fail, too? Will they take the trouble to look up the records of their own particular representatives and send them back to Washington if they deserve re-election? Will they rebuke them in no uncertain terms by defeat at the polls if they have been untrue to their trust? Or will this be too much trouble? A large per cent of the members of the last Congress are asking for re-election, and it is up to the average citizen to prevent the recurrence of a farce in our national legislative body.

Republican leaders in the Ninth district of California declare that Congressman Lineberger has represented his constituents fairly. They have studied his record and found that he was one of those who strove honestly to uphold the administration, but who were outvoted by recalcitrant members of their own party combining with the Democrats. The campaign for Congressman Lineberger's election has already opened.

COLLEGE TRAINING

In these days of high wages for manual workers as compared with brain workers, young people are giving the question of a college education more thought than was the case a few years ago. Then they knew that college training was desirable, now they are not so sure.

It is doubtful if anyone ever regretted the time and money spent in getting an education. College training gives one poise and self-confidence such as nothing else can. And, while technical training is necessary for professional work, and cultural training is highly desirable to one who wishes to get the most out of life, nearly all college students and alumni confess that this is the least the college has to offer. It is the personal contacts with professors, instructors and fellow students that count most and mean most in after life. Not that the social side of college life should be emphasized too strongly, but we learn from those we touch in our daily lives and at college there is a great opportunity for such study.

Going to college usually means leaving home for the first time for the young man or woman, and this experience alone is a test of character, and if rightly met, is broadening.

A college training always pays in dollars and cents, also, even though our joke writers love to ridicule the college graduate in search of a job.

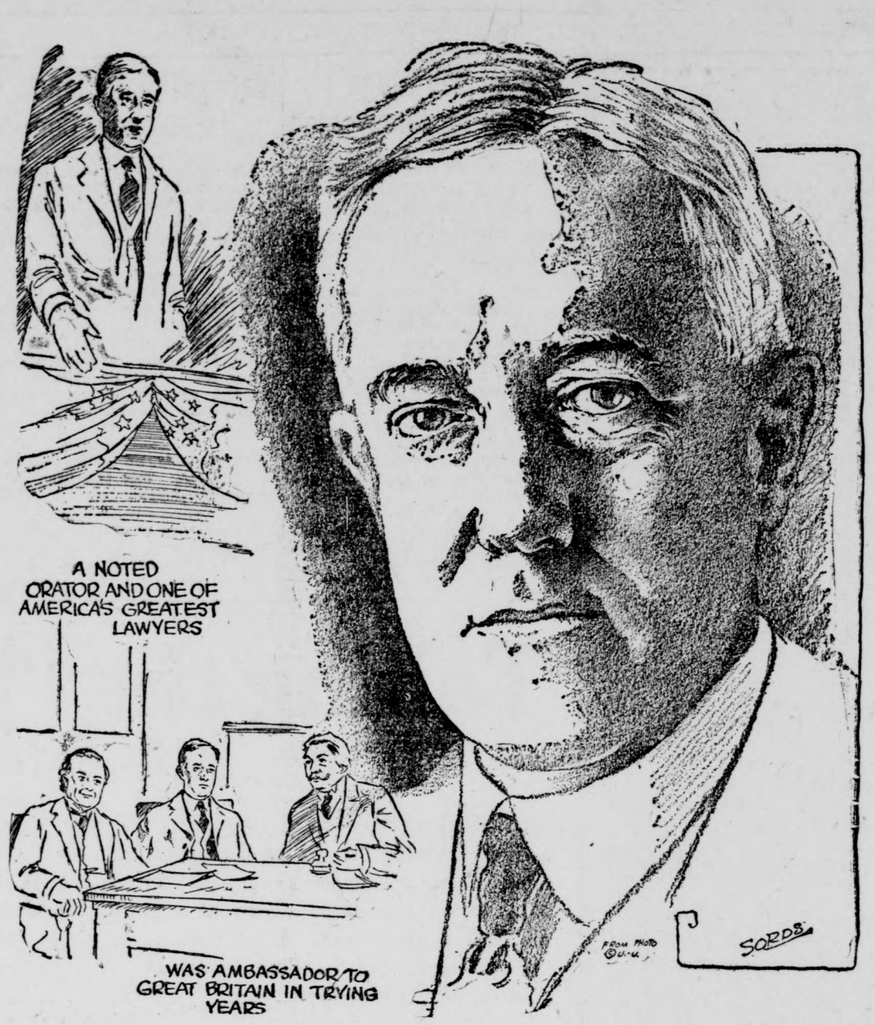
JOHN W. DAVIS: A CHARACTER STUDY



Be Not a Door Mat

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Door mat is a term used to signify one who lets others walk on him.

It is a slang expression.

Slang is the product of the vigorous imagination of the people which has not yet been sufficiently shopworn to be accepted by the "best people"—who have no imagination.

The Door Mat often takes great pride in his matness.

It is reversed egotism, ingrowing vanity.

It calls itself by any one of five names, such as Devotion, Loyalty, Self Sacrifice, Christian Character, and the like.

But it is a subtle form of self-deception. For in reality the Door Mat is cruel and noxious.

Does the Door Mat ever think, while he is exercising his own grand and noble self-crushing, and thus developing his own moral stature, of the harm he is doing those whom he allows to step on him?

He does not.

Unfortunately there seems to be no provision in our religion for putting a limit to martyrdom.

And a rampant martyr in any family is a fearsome thing.

Many a mother prides herself upon slaving for her daughter. She washes the dishes while Mamie plays the piano. She dresses dowdy while Mamie goes forth even as Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed.

She chaps her hands at the washboard, breaks her nails moving the furniture and roughens her fingers sewing, while Mamie seeks the manicure.

She lives the life of a scullion and chambermaid in order that Mamie may flit from flower to flower.

And she is happy, and Mamie is miserable.

She is full of patience, gentleness and goodness, in order that she may fill her precious lammy with impatience, selfishness, callousness and extravagance.

In all this, mother veritably thinks she is doing God's service.

Is she?

Is it God's service to guard a child from the blessing of work, when without toil not one soul in a hundred can escape ruin?

No element of happiness is more essential than self-discipline; is it any mercy to deprive the young of that and to feed them daily on the poison of self-indulgence?

Here's a topic for mother's meditation: The utter Selfishness of utter Unselfishness.

The very first thing any human being needs to learn is that only by an intelligent regard for one's self, only by keeping one's self as strong, healthy, cheerful and self-respecting as possible, can one be of any real service to others.

You can't love your neighbor as yourself helpfully unless you love yourself understandingly.

Horoscope

Astrologers read this as rather an unfortunate day, for Jupiter, the Sun and Saturn are all in malefic aspect.

There is a comparatively good sign for those who sell and real estate is subject to a good direction of the stars for those who desire to turn property into cash.

Men of affairs are subject to a sway making for many anxieties and responsibilities at this time, which may present numerous business problems.

Financiers are likely to be unduly cautious and there is a sign making for difficulty for all who would be borrowers.

Bankers have the augury of much activity in new fields not hitherto sought by Americans.

Political candidates come under a planetary government today which is likely to be depressing, since there will be much confusion of thought while this configuration prevails.

Surprises in the presidential elections are forecast and much excitement is indicated.

This is not an auspicious direction of the stars for those who seek the support of powerful persons or organizations.

It is a day for keeping to routine duties and for pursuing the most conservative methods in business matters.

Saturn is in a place held to be of dubious import for labor and there may be strikes that become serious.

Farmers at this period of the summer probably will have great cause for discontent.

Shipping disasters certainly are presaged and a severe storm at sea may be looked for within a month.

Persons whose birthdate it is should be exceedingly careful in all matters of business. Speculation this year will be disastrous.

Children born on this day probably will have very eventful lives. These subjects of Cancer usually are successful in public life and girls should be able to attain true fame.

Who's Who

As a member of the national committee of the party and a leader in political and social activities for many years Mrs. Edward P. Costigan is expected to play and important part in the campaign Senator La Follette will wage as the head of the third party in the coming elections.

Mrs. Costigan's home is now in Washington, but for years was in Denver, Colorado. A kindergarten teacher by profession, she has long been interested in all that pertains to child welfare. She has frequently lectured and conducted courses of instruction in Chatauquas in different western states on childhood story-telling for children, and child psychology.

As chairman of the industrial committee of the Colorado Federation of Women's Clubs, and president of the Denver Woman's club, she organized the campaign to amend the Colorado child labor law to protect children working in industry. Her efforts to amend the Colorado minimum wage law were so well known that when her husband was appointed to the United States tariff commission, and they went to live in Washington, D. C., she was appointed chairman of the legislative committee of the Consumers' League of the district. In that capacity she helped to secure the district minimum wage law.

In 1919, Mrs. Costigan became a vice president of the National Consumers' league and president of the District Consumers' league in which capacity she followed in Congress the hearings relating to the meat packing industry. She soon became an authority on this subject.

She was appointed chairman of the food supply and demand committee of the League of Women Voters in the summer of 1920 and served as a delegate to the farm conference called in 1920 by President Harding.

Oldest farm house in the world now extant is near Pompeii, having been unearthed by archaeologists several years ago.

SWEET PAPA!

A dentist in a small village in a sparsely settled part of New York state had extracted a tooth for an extremely nervous woman. She admitted that she had no money with which to pay the fee.

"Oh, that's all right," the dentist assured her; "just tell me your husband's name, and I'll charge the amount."

"W-W-Wal, I'm that upset I-I-I just can't think now what his name is," stammered the woman. "You see, I allers call him pa!"

ARITHMETIC

"Four sheep are standing on the brink of a hundred-foot cliff. One of them takes a notion to jump off. How many are left?"

"That's an old gag. The last three would follow the first, so none would be left."

"No, you're wrong. The first one only takes a notion."

The Ravings Of a Grouch

Among the harvests that never fail in southern California is the crop of boosters. People from other parts laugh at us, but no sooner do they come to the sunny south than they turn enthusiasts. Of course there must be exceptions to prove the rule, and you will always find a few grouches and calamity howlers among the boosters. It takes all kinds of people to make a world, and I presume these human crabs have their place in the scheme of creation as well as the crustaceans we designate by the same term.

If some of these grouches who are always trying to find flaws in our climate and scenery, and in our business and living conditions, could spend a few months in my old home city of Winnipeg, they might have some excuse to rave. I suppose you will not believe that a man who is working for a modest salary, such as I earn, was once rich and influential, but it is true. I still own property in Winnipeg, but it is a liability to me. In the first place, there are ten months of real winter every year in Manitoba. There is frost in the ground practically all of the time. I had acquired considerable property, mostly rental property, and was doing very well until the Memorandum Act broke me. This law, enacted during the war, exempted families who had men in the service from paying rent. Many of the men living in my houses were making more than they ever did before, but they paid me no rent, and I was required to spend considerable to keep up the property and to pay my taxes. The boom which Winnipeg enjoyed previous to 1914 burst during the war, and the city has not yet recovered. When the soldiers returned there was a riot, and business and labor conditions were so bad I decided to leave. Just the other day my agent wrote me in regard to a large house I still own there. He says all he can do is to get some one to live in it rent-free and heat-free, so it will not entirely go to ruin; keep it in repair and pay the taxes. There is absolutely no sale for real estate at any price. In fact, I could not give the house away.

So, when I hear people claiming that the climate here is not all it has been represented, I think back to those winters when the thermometer registered anywhere from zero to forty below for ten months in the year, and whence I spent a fortune each winter for fuel. When they can't see any beauty in the scenery here, I think of the snow that covered the plains around Winnipeg almost constantly—beautiful but tiresome. When they talk about a business depression, I have to cover my ears for fear I will explode.

Every city should provide a fund to send these peevish ones where conditions really are bad. They would soon draw in their horns and be glad to get back.

Police, Fire Alarm

The cost of installing modern fire and police alarm systems would be approximately $100,000, according to the report of the subcommittee consisting of P. J. Hayselden, representing the Chamber of Commerce, chairman; R. W. Meeker, representing the Colorado Street Improvement association, and R. Belcher, representing the Southeast Glendale Improvement association. In the absence of Mr. Meeker, J. M. Boland acted in Mr. Meeker's place. The report follows:

"Your sub-committee on police and fire alarm system for the city of Glendale begs to report as follows:

"This committee has met in joint conference with the chief of police, the chief of the fire department and G. A. Jackson, assistant chief engineer of the Gamewell Fire Alarm and Telegraph company for the United States and who is a mechanical and electrical engineer by profession.

History

The Gamewell Fire Alarm and Telegraph System has been engaged in their class of business for a period of sixty-five years. In the United States their system is in successful operation in 1200 police departments and over 2000 fire departments and over 1000 industrial plants.

Gamewell System

"The Gamewell System is an accepted standard and not an assembled system, that is to say, not parts of one system and parts of another. We are advised that assembled systems are not satisfactory for the reason that in the event of breakdown or being out of order, the installers of the unit that is out of order will disclaim liability on their part and endeavor to pass it up to the other unit as being at fault. An assembled system does not protect the city with a guarantee of successful operation.

Electricity

"Electromotive force for the system is supplied by two sets of storage batteries for each fire alarm circuit. The police system will be supplied with two sets of batteries for the signal circuits, two sets of batteries for flashlight circuits and two sets of batteries for local operations. One battery is charging while the other is in use and one battery is good for sixty hours, both batteries being good for 120 hours. So, therefore, if the city current or Edison current, which is used for charging the batteries by means of motor generators, were cut off for any reason, the city would be fully protected for 120 hours with both batteries fully charged and in such time the general electrical city supply would be repaired and in operation. Batteries are fully guaranteed for one year and life of same is from five to seven years. The system is guaranteed against any inherent defects.

"You will therefore note that the system is not dependent on municipal or Edison supply of electricity for the maintenance of the system or the safety of our city.

Hazards

"The chief of the fire department has advised us that during the strike of telephone operators that he maintained lookouts on buildings. The chief of police has advised us that he has had to go to the telephone company at night to establish telephone connection. With an independent system, such as outlined, this cannot occur.

Pole Installation

"For such installation there is no cost, the city using its own poles and having a working agreement with the telephone company for the use of theirs.

Maintenance

"Maintenance in regard to police and fire alarm system is practically nil. Members of each department operate the switch boards and adjustments, there being men in each department qualified to do so. Pole maintenance can be taken care of by the linemen of our city light department. The system is not intricate, full and capable instruction being given.

The Present System
(a) Fire Department

"The only method of calling the fire department is by telephone or personal call. With the enormous demand on the telephone company for cable and installation there are many homes and some sections of our city that are without any means of communication in this matter of public safety.

(b) Police Department

"Telephone calls from the public during the hours from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. are made through the local switchboard at the city hall. Before 8 a. m. and after 5 p. m., and on Sundays and holidays, telephone calls are made through a single telephone. If the line is busy, call again.

"For this department to call its outside officers, it has three outside telephone connections, two of which have a bell. These connections cost $1 per month each. With eleven officers on night duty and two outside telephone bells, there is very little to alarm the law breaker.

Proposed System

"Each department has its own independent switchboard and operator, enabling calling in or out by the officers or public without confusion or delay.

(a) Fire Department

"A total of seventy-three fire alarm boxes to be located throughout the city of Glendale, ten of which are for the school houses and sixty-three for the streets. The method of alarm is to go to the box and pull down the hook and wait to direct the firemen to the fire.

(b) Police Department

Twenty-one police boxes to be located throughout the city of Glendale, which gives the officer direct communication with police headquarters. It also controls the movement of each officer. Each box to be provided with a red flash-light and klaxon horn. Flashlights are shaded and may be seen a long distance either day or night and are used as calls, or signals through code, day or night.

"The horn is used day or night for calls and may be heard from 500 to 1000 feet distant. This system enables the police officer to be always in touch with the officers on the streets day or night and to effectively close the avenues of escape and to render aid in case of accident. From 80 per cent to 90 per cent of all police departments use boxes, flashlights and horns.

Future Extension of System and Cost
(a) Fire Department

"The switchboard of the system as proposed will provide for 160 fire alarm boxes, of which seventy-three boxes are proposed, leaving a balance of eighty-seven boxes to fill the board to capacity when and as needed.

"From time to time boxes may be added at the market price at that time. When this switchboard is filled to its capacity of 160 boxes, which is almost double the proposed seventy-three boxes and which will be some time to come, an additional ten circuit unit providing for 160 more boxes, or a total of 320 boxes, may be acquired at a reasonable cost. When Glendale has 320 boxes, we venture to say that Glendale and Los Angeles will be built solid to its city limits.

(b) Police Department

"With twenty-one boxes, flashlights and horns as proposed, the city will be adequately protected for some time to come. The system is so flexible that fifty-nine additional boxes, flashlights and horns may be added from time to time.

Investigation of System

"The cities of Fresno, Berkeley, Sacramento, San Diego, Santa Ana and Culver City have installed the Gamewell System and recommend it highly.

"Chief of Police Fraser and chief of the fire department, Lankford, through investigation and information, recommend the Gamewell System.

"Your sub-committee also recommends the Gamewell System. We all recommend a standard system of police and fire alarm and not an assembled system. However, we, the sub-committee, and the chiefs of the departments, do not wish to preclude any other firms or persons from entering the field of competition regardless of the provisions of the charter and ordinances of the city of Glendale which provide for the submitting and filing of bids in open competition.

"Further, your sub-committee asks the approval of the committee of the whole in this, their report on the police and fire alarm system, deeming the matter of public safety of vital necessity for the protection of life and property.

"With the approval of the committee of the whole and the citizens of Glendale, we urge that each matter be placed before the voters as a separate and distinct measure for their approval.

Cost

"Fire Dept. $63,429
"Police Dept. $36,294

"Total $99,723

Report on Civic Center

A bond issue of at least $650,000 is suggested by the sub-committee on civic center and city hall expansion, in a report read by Peter Hanson, representing the Optimist club. Other members of the committee are: Alexander Mitchell, chairman, representing the Foothills Improvement association, and H. M. Butts, representing the Glendale Merchants' association. The report follows:

"Your sub-committee on city hall and civic center, in pursuance to your request, begs to submit further report as follows:

"First—We are informed by the High School Board of Education that they have heretofore considered the sale of the Harvard school property for civic uses, and therefore, are in hearty accord with the program as outlined by your committee, and wish to assure us now that they will gladly cooperate with us to that end.

"Second—The state law requires that a school property be advertised and sold to the highest bidder. For that reason, it does not lie within the province nor authority of the school board to fix a price, and the appraised valuations procured by the board are, therefore, only approximate. It is, however, reasonable to presume that any bids for purchase of the property will come close to the appraised valuation—the highest of which is, $476,000, including improvements.

"Third—Your committee, therefore, recommends for your favorable consideration a bond issue of $650,000. This to cover the purchase of the property, to make needed alterations so the buildings can be used for city business and such improvements of grounds and equipment for civic center as such amount will permit.

"Respectfully submitted,
"ALEX MITCHELL, Chairman,
"PETER HANSON,
"H. M. BUTTS.

Reports on Bridges

O. M. Newby, representing the West Broadway Improvement association, and chairman of the sub-committee on bridges over Verdugo wash, read the report submitted by the sub-committee. Other members of this committee are: Rev. Ernest E. Ford, of the Ministerial Union, and I. J. Hoover, representing the Northwestern Avenue Improvement association. The report follows:

"We, your committee on bridges, after a careful consideration of the matter of bridges as they relate to the city of Glendale, beg to report as follows:

"That the matter of building permanent bridges across the Verdugo Wash be held in abeyance until some plan of taking care of the wash in a big way can be formulated.

"That such a movement with said objective in view be instituted at once by the committee on boulevards.

"That, pending action as above suggested, the bridges now serving the public be placed in good shape when and where needed. To that end we find:

"That the Louise street bridge is very unsafe and too narrow and suggest that same be put in first-class condition, widened, with a walk on either side.

Bridge Too Narrow

"That the Pacific avenue bridge is entirely too narrow and should have two foot walks and should be strengthened.

"That the Geneva street and Rossmoyne avenue bridges, which are a credit to the owners of the tracts that put them in, should be surfaced. The Patterson avenue bridge is in very good shape.

"We would like to call the attention of the Committee of Twenty-Nine to the dangerous crossing at Fourth and Grand View streets, and suggest to the City Council that they take steps to relieve the situation at once.

"We suggest that the whole matter of bridges be worked out in conjunction with the matter of boulevards and to that end suggest that the committee on bridges be either merged with the committee on boulevards or cooperate with them, as they are vitally related.

"Respectfully submitted,
"O. M. NEWBY, Chairman,
"I. J. HOOVER,
"ERNEST E. FORD."

Water System Report

Charles Marshall, representing the Central Avenue Improvement association, and chairman of the sub-committee on enlarging the water system and supply, said the committee had made numerous investigations during the past week, but would not be ready to report until next week.

"It is a mighty big proposition," Mr. Marshall said, "and we want to have all our information complete before we make a final report. It is too big for short action or short time. There will be a meeting of this sub-committee tomorrow, and I am sure we will be ready to report next Wednesday."

Other members of the committee are: William B. Pelley, representing the Sierra Avenue Improvement association, and W. H. Richards, representing the American Legion.

Auxiliary Power Plant

Roy L. Kent, chairman of the sub-committee on auxiliary power plant for Glendale, before reading the report by his committee, said he wanted to correct an impression that followed the report last week.

"This committee did not recommend the installation of a municipal plant last week," Mr. Kent said. "We only gave facts and figures on the Pasadena plant, and made suggestions relative to what such a plant for Glendale would cost and what it would do."

Mr. Kent represents the Glendale Rotary club. Other members of this committee are J. H. Randall, representing the Fourth Street Improvement association, and Lyman P. Clark, representing the Glendale Motor Car Dealers' association. The report follows:

"Your committee wish to make the following report and recommendation relative to the building and installation of an auxiliary power plant in our city:

"After considering all the available information relative to the present situation bearing on the manufacture and distribution of electrical energy to care for the requirements of southern California during the dry period this year, and after considering well the future possibilities and ability of the Edison company to supply the requirements of southern California with electrical energy, we are of the opinion that it is not at all necessary for the city of Glendale to burden herself at this time with a bond issue for the purpose of constructing and maintaining an auxiliary power plant, and we wish to recommend that we do not at this time incorporate in our program any bonds for such purposes. We wish to substantiate our opinion and recommendation in this matter by the following facts:

Increase Volume

"We find that the Southern California Edison company have made and are making use of every opportunity to increase the volume of electrical energy for distribution in southern California during the dry period. They have added approximately 47,000 K. W. to the totals that they have heretofore been manufacturing, through the purchase and leasing of a series of small steam plants throughout southern California. They are also constructing a steam plant at Long Beach that will be capable of producing 70,000 K. W. and are making extensive plans and spending millions of dollars in extensions and additions to their development system, which, when completed, will make impossible a recurrence of the serious situation that is now being experienced throughout this district.

"At the present time the Southern California Edison company are constructing a thirteen-mile tunnel which will connect the south fork of the San Joaquin river with Huntington Lake, which tunnel it is estimated will be completed during the spring of 1925. This stream, if the tunnel were now completed, would deliver into Huntington Lake approximately 200 acre feet per day.

Development Work

"The Edison company are also constructing a new reservoir to be known as Florence lake, above Huntington lake, which lake will when completed have a capacity of 60,000 acre feet, while Huntington lake has at the present time a capacity of 88,000 acre feet, so you can readily see that when this new reservoir is completed the storage capacity available in that district will be almost doubled, to say nothing of the daily addition of 200 acre feet from the San Joaquin.

"We also wish to say that there are several other large power projects under way, which will be completed in the next two or three years, and will add very materially to the volume of electrical energy available for this district, one of the most prominent of which is the proposed construction and development program of the Sespe Light and Power company, which program will make available for power purposes all of the run-off of the Sespe and Piru watershed.

Danger of Cut Off

"One of the most potent reasons up to this time why we should build an auxiliary power plant lies in the fact that we are constantly in danger of a complete cut-off of electrical energy from the Edison company because of failure or break-down in the one distributing line from the Edison power plants in the north. This situation is soon to be remedied, as the Edison company state they have practically completed arrangements and secured all necessary rights-of-way for the construction of a parallel power line from the San Joaquin power development district.

"Because of the foregoing facts, and for the reason that it would require at least one year to build an auxiliary power plant here, and because of the fact that the Edison company will be in a position to take care of southern California without any curtailment by the spring of 1925, we feel, as stated before, that it is unnecessary for us at this time to further consider the construction of our own power plant. We feel that there are many other things more necessary at this time which will require the voting of bonds, and because of our limited bonding capacity we feel that it would be impossible at this time to include a sufficient sum to build a plant that would be adequate to take care of our light and power requirements.

"Respectfully submitted,
"ROY L. KENT,
"J. H. RANDALL,
"LYMAN P. CLARK."

Parks Next Week

The report of the sub-committee on acquisition of city parks will be ready next week, L. H. Wilson chairman of that committee, and representing the San Fernando Improvement association, reported at the meeting today. Other members of the committee are: R. Streit, representing the West Side Improvement association, and Dr. E. H. Parker, representing the Brand Boulevard Improvement association.

Glendale is in need of a modern plant for disposal of garbage, H. M. Bennett, chairman of the sub-committee named to look into the matter, said before reading the committee's report. Mr. Bennett spoke briefly on investigations made by the committee members, and suggested all members of the organization give this matter immediate attention.

A modern garbage disposal plant for Glendale would mean a bond issue of $50,000, the committee reported, and suggested that such a bond issue be floated as soon as possible. Mr. Bennett represents the Glendale Exchange club, and other members of the committee are: R. M. Brown, representing the Glendale Advancement association, and W. A. Hail, representing the Verdugo Woodlands Improvement association.

Garbage Disposal Plant

The report of this sub-committee follows:

"Your sub-committee appointed to investigate the necessity of an incinerator plant for the city of Glendale herewith tenders you its final report, based upon our investigation concerning this matter.

"First—It is our pleasure to state that we unanimously indorse and recommend to the citizens bond committee that they recommend to the citizens of Glendale that a bond issue of $50,000 be passed at the earliest possible date, for the purpose of building an incinerator for the disposal of garbage and rubbish of this city.

"Second—We recommend that the type of plant to be installed shall be what is known as a 'dry disposal plant,' capacity of which shall be at least twenty tons per day. No fuel will be required to operate such a plant, and same can be operated by two common laborers.

"We further wish to make a statement that we have investigated conditions in connection with the disposal of garbage at this time, and we find that the city is in a very precarious situation concerning this matter; and we earnestly urge every member of the citizens bond committee to use every possible effort to put this issue over, and see that a plant is completed as soon as possible.

"An incinerator plant, such as we have investigated, is not unsightly, it puts forth practically no smoke at all, and has absolutely no odor whatsoever.

"Very respectfully yours,
"H. M. BENNETT, chairman,
"R. M. BROWN,
"W. A. HAIL."

The tenth, and final, sub-committee, founding a municipal hospital in Glendale, gave its report last week, which was considered final by General Chairman Smith. The members of this sub-committee are: Dr. Floyd Thompson, representing the Glendale Physicians' club, chairman; Mrs. J. M. Woolsey, representing the Business and Profesional Women's club, and Frank Hoopes, Glendale Advertising club.

The next meeting of the Citizens' Bond committee will be held at the Harvard High school auditorium at 9 o'clock next Wednesday morning, when the members, sitting as a committee of the whole, will consider the reports submitted today, in which suggestions or recommendations for bond issues were contained.

City Manager Stone attended the meeting and made several short addresses in reply to numerous questions that were brought up during the reading of the reports.

Diet And Health

TRICHINOSIS

Recently there have been eight cases of Trichinosis reported by the health officers of Connecticut and I think we had better have a paper on the subject.

Trichinosis is a disease caused by a tiny round worm known as the trichinella spiralis (because they curl in a spiral), or simply Trichina. The animals most often infected are man, swine and rats. It is very common in rats. Swine get it from eating the infected rats or infected offal or garbage with infected pork in it, or the carcasses of other infected swine. Man gets it by eating underdone infected meat of swine. According to Rosenau, it is estimated that one to two per cent of the swine are infected; other authorities think the percentage is much higher. Germany used to furnish the most cases of Trichinosis because Germans are fond of rare pork and sausages. The reports say they do not have many cases now because of their rigid meat inspection laws. The orthodox Jews, Hindoos and Turks who never eat pork, are never troubled with this disorder.

The worms in the flesh of the infected animals lie dormant in little capsules of fibrous tissue which nature builds around them in an effort to wall them in, to prevent harm to the system. When you eat infected meat, these little fibrous capsules are digested and the forms are set free in the intestines. Here they mate and thousands and perhaps millions of embryos are hatched. They cause an intense diarrhea and many of them escape through the bowel movements. Those that do not escape, bore their way through the walls of the intestines, get into the circulation and distribute themselves around the body, especially in the muscle tissue. Here nature does just as it does in the swine or rat—builds little fibrous capsules around them and they are settled there for life. You can't shake 'em, no matter what you do. Your symptoms would depend upon the number of embryos settling down. Death results in about 20 per cent of the cases reported.

While I was doing laboratory work in the Los Angeles County hospital, I was asked to examine the blood of a patient who came in with a tentative diagnosis of muscular rheumatism. He had been treated for rheumatism with no response.

His blood was not normal. Instead of showing the usual normal number—three to four per cent—of eosinophiles (a type of white blood cells so named because they have large granules which hold the bright red eosin stain when stained for examination), this patient's blood showed about 30 per cent of those cells. When I gave the report of my work to the physicians they suspected at once the right diagnosis, for these cells increase only in certain disorders.

Armed with a little razor edged scalpel, we took a small fragment of the muscle from the calf of the man's leg. I placed it under my microscope and a fascinating picture rewarded me. In between the muscle fibers, cuddling cozily down and still wiggling, were live trichina worms. It certainly was an interesting sight. The whole staff of the hospital was called in to see this moving picture.

The man had eaten some underdone pork sausages.

Support your health department so that it is not shorthanded and can furnish enough food inspectors. Even then, never eat pork or pork sausages that are not thoroughly cooked, (because of the uncertainty of detecting if the pork is infected) and you won't get Trichinosis.

WANTS STATE TO CONTROL WATERS

Seavey Advocates Extension Of Commission's Power In Power Crisis

By GIL A. COWAN
For Southland News Service.

LOS ANGELES, July 16.—State control of water as a public utility, just as transportation, power and the like have been taken in the scope of the railroad commission's mandate, is advocated by Clyde L. Seavey of the State Railroad commission.

His expression of opinion comes as the result of the power shortage resulting from the water shortage. He believes the interests are so allied that the control of the commission should be extended to incorporate the work formerly handled by the state water commission.

In the present crisis Mr. Seavey also believes that necessary industries be favored so that production will remain normal in both agricultural and commercial lines. Daylight saving on the part of the public will do much to relieve the present crisis, he told members of the City club at their luncheon yesterday.

The necessity for reduction, he pointed out, lies in the fact that the Edison company's hydro-electric kilowatt hours have been more than cut in half by the lack of water in its Central California storage reservoirs.

BUTTERFLY

By KATHLEEN NORRIS. Copyright, 1924.

No misgiving as to the possible fairness of this demand, made of a mere girl, ever troubled Bronson. Hilary's was one of those vital and vivid natures that never dreamed of self-pity. There were in her such a wellspring of energy and self-reliance, such a keen delight in mere living, that she might almost have been said to welcome any loss and any misfortune that gave her a chance to prove her own splendid powers.

She did grieve for her father, heartily and with many a burst of refreshing tears. But she was too busy to grieve long, too deeply absorbed in the fascinating business of managing her own affairs. She had her memories, the household of books and music that her marvelous father and mother had left behind them, and Dora. The eyes of the entire village, sympathetic, admiring, curious, were upon the two little sisters. Hilary felt that she had no choice, she must rise to the demand of life.

Standing here, in John Spaulding's office, seven years later, Hilary smiled, remembering all this. Poor little courageous fool of a girl of sixteen, how gallantly she had ridden at her windmills! Many a discouraged hour, and weary hour, and hour of humiliation and doubt, lay between that day and this. She was wiser now, less blindly bold, not quite so dramatically confident as that younger Hilary had been.

Dora was eighteen now, with all the musical promise of her astonishing babyhood fulfilled, and Hilary, looking down the street, dimming in the black winter twilight, could see the still lighted windows of the bank, where the money that was to take Dora and herself to Europe next year, was safely waiting.

And finally, to set this train of reminiscent thought in motion, her eyes had only to move in a certain direction, to find the picture of a young man, boldly displayed upon a poster in the darkening street: a young man who was represented with a violin upon his shoulder. Under him, in large clear print, were the words: "Konrad Kronski. First Appearance in America. Philadelphia, Evening of December Third."

Hilary had watched some men passing the poster on the fence an hour ago. She had never seen Kronski, she had not known until then that he was in America. But a letter, written to him, was in her hand at this moment, ready for the post.

That was the way with her life, she reflected, almost awestruck with gratitude for the suddenly vouchsafed guidance, as she turned back into the dusky office, touched the light, and went to sit down again at her desk. She had been wondering for months how the next great change was to come about. Were she and Dora simply to pack up their clothes, and rent the house, and go away into the unknown? Was that safe?

Dora was fast developing; young men were beginning to admire her. The girl was restless, too, discontented and vaguely dissatisfied—Hilary knew that temperament well! The struggle to keep their lives apart from the lives of the village, to keep their great and sacred end always in sight, had been growing increasingly difficult for the older sister. Dora could not always seem to realize, as Hilary did, that theirs was a great destiny. Dora wanted to go to parties, to wear pretty frocks, to have good times. Hilary knew that the time was coming, and coming fast, when she must act, or fail.

And now, like a guiding star in the east, had come this man's name out of her past, the name her father had mentioned with his dying breath. She was to take Dora to Kronski—Kronski would advise them! And time had brought Kronski into her reach.

Tonight she would look through old letters, find what she could in his mother's writing to her mother, and make sure her claim, so that when she saw him, as she intended to see him, she would know exactly how to reach him. The letter she had written him told him of the old friendship, told him that she and Dora would be at the concert, asked him if they might bring the Amari, and if after the concert he would listen to Dora. And with this opening of the heavens Hilary felt a rush of confidence and delight sweep over her. She had come to work this morning somewhat worried and puzzled; now all was clear. Kronski could not but be impressed by her exquisite "Butterfly," as she almost always called her little sister; perhaps he had a kind wife, perhaps they would all go back to Europe together——!

An unseen door slammed; she went into the outer office expectantly. John Spaulding's nephew was expected tonight from New York; he was to spend some time in Mount Holly with his uncle and aunt. She knew him to be a favorite with his uncle, as indeed with everyone. Echoes of his business ability came from the New York office; and hints of his social successes Dora sometimes found in the daily papers or the illustrated weeklies. He had earned a captain's commission early in the war, and had acquitted himself creditably in France. To Hilary, as to everyone else in the Spaulding factory, he seemed one of the most important persons in the world.

Hilary had seen him several years ago, when he a handsome serious youth of twenty-five, walking through the packing plant between his father and uncle, his groomed appearance, his well-cut homespun clothes, and his ready, clear voice in striking contrast to the busy young men and women who watched him silently from above their cutting tables, packing machines, and ledgers. He met their eyes with a friendly, interested look from his own wide-open gray ones; he was of not more than the average height, squarely built, with thick, close-cropped light-brown hair. They all knew that his father was Rodney Spaulding, the head of the firm, and that this boy would inherit the lion's share of both the New York and the New Jersey plants some day. Old John Spaulding and two daughters, both with wealthy husbands: it was inevitable that young Craig Spaulding should succeed to both his father's and uncle's control and management of the business.

Uncle and nephew came together into the office; Hilary stood up for an introduction. Craig Spaulding was just as she remembered him, a little older, a little sterner, perhaps, but very much the poised and courteous gentleman. His voice, and his quick finished speech, were delightful. His eyes were keen, but full of an engaging friendliness that disaremd resentment; his clothes, even this village girl could see, were perfection. The big, darkred coat was belted, the big gloves were a greenish yellow, the hat had at the back a small flat bow that Hilary had never seen on any other man's hat, and was tilted at an angle an inch or two more daring.

"The Gray Fox" continues to amuse large audiences nightly at the tent theatre of Murphy's Comedians on Stocker street, Casa Verdugo. This is the comedy-drama that was kept from a New York showing by the recent Actors' Equity strike. It is an exceptionally fine piece of work, appealing alike to those who like laughs and thrills.

The curtain rises each night promptly at 8 o'clock, states Manager J. A. Menard of Murphy's Comedians, though those who wish to assure themselves of front seats may come as early as 7:15 o'clock. The tent is reached by driving north on either Brand boulevard or Central avenue until one comes to Stocker street, where the nightly throng and the multitudes of parked automobiles indicate clearly the location.

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S NEW COAT

"Hello, Nurse Jane!" called Uncle Wiggily to his muskrat lady housekeeper one morning in the hollow stump bungalow. "I am going down to the eleven and twelve-cent store to buy myself a new coat. Do you want me to bring you anything?"

"You might bring me a paper of pins," answered Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "I am going to make myself a new dress, and I shall need some pins."

"I will bring them to you," promised the rabbit gentleman. And, with a twinkle of his pink nose, off he hopped over the fields and through the woods to get himself a new coat and buy Nurse Jane the paper of pins.

While Uncle Wiggily was in the store trying on his new coat, the Bob Cat looked in the door and saw the rabbit.

"Oh ho, and oh ha!" whispered the Bob Cat to himself, smiling so that his whiskers curled around the back of his neck. "I know how I can catch Uncle Wiggily. When he is walking through the woods wearing his new coat, I'll grab it away from him and put it on myself. My coat is ragged—I need a new one. And, when I have on Uncle Wiggily's new coat he'll hop after me to get it back.

"I will run to my den in the dark woods. He will come hopping after me and, when he gets to my den I will nibble his ears! Ha! Ha! I will nibble his ears! That will be a good way to catch this rabbit."

Uncle Wiggily put on his new coat, and the tailor bird said he would send the old one to the bunny's hollow stump bungalow by parcels post. Then Mr. Longears, looking very gay and happy in his new coat, went hopping along over the fields.

All of a sudden the bunny gentleman thought of the paper of pins Nurse Jane had asked him to bring her.

"I'll just hop to the six and seven cent store and get them," said Mr. Longears to himself.

When he had bought the paper of sharp pins, he put them in the side pocket of his coat, and went hopping along, quite happy, and with his pink nose twinkling beautifully.

All of a sudden, as the rabbit was skipping through the woods, out from behind a sassafras bush popped the Bob Cat.

"Give me that coat!" howled the bad chap, without so much as saying "please," and he snatched it from Uncle Wiggily's back. Taking off his own ragged coat, the Bob Cat put on the bunny's new one and away he ran.

"Here! Here! Come back with my coat!" cried Uncle Wiggily, and along he hopped after the Bob Cat.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the Bob Cat, looking over his shoulder. "He is following me! Soon he will be in the dark part of the woods and I'll nibble his ears!"

But, all of a sudden, something began pricking and sticking the Bob Cat very sharply. He felt a pain in his side. More stickers and prickers!

"What's this?" howled the bad chap. "I feel as if needles were sticking me! It's in Uncle Wiggily's coat. I know! He has a little fairy in one pocket. A fairy with a sharp knife is sticking me. Oh, I didn't know Uncle Wiggily's coat was magical! I'd better take it off before I turn into a lollypop!"

Flinging off the rabbit's new coat, the Bob Cat ran away through the woods as fast as he could go, leaving the coat on the ground.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the bunny as he picked up his coat. It's a good thing I had Nurse Jane's paper of pins in my pocket. The pins stuck the Bob Cat and made him run away. Ha, ha!" Then putting on his new coat, and wrapping a green leaf around the paper of pins so they wouldn't stick him, Uncle Wiggily hopped safely to his hollow stump bungalow.

And, if the rose leaf lollypop doesn't try to turn into a chocolate caramel and play tag with the gum drop, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's skipping rope.

SEALS IN SECOND AS VERNON WINS

Tigers Capture Ten-Inning Game, Seattle Leading By One Point

SAN FRANCISCO, July 16.—Seattle went into first place in the Coast league, although the Indians were reposing peacefully in the safe cushions of their Pullman en route to Salt Lake City. The Tigers were responsible for the Indians topping the league in the lazy manner, when Vernon beat the Seals 13 to 12 in a ten-inning game here yesterday.

By virtue of the defeat, the sassy Seals dropped to second place, just one point behind the Indians, and only forty-five points ahead of Vernon.

Nine of the Tigers' thirteen runs were scored in the second inning with two men down, after Valla dropped a line drive which should have been the third put. Three more runs came in the fourth and the Tigers were blanked until the tenth when Truck Hannah ducked away from a fast one, which hit his bat, the ball landing in fair territory. Blakesley scored on the freak hit, bringing in the winning run. W. Griffin and Shellenbach got homers.

The Senators won the opening game of the series with Portland at Sacramento yesterday, 5 to 2. Schroeder was on the mound for the Beavers, while Canfield hurled for the winners. The Solons gathered eleven hits and Portland got nine.

Seattle and Los Angeles were traveling yesterday, so there were only two games played in the Coast league yesterday. Seattle will open at Salt Lake today and the Angels will meet Oakland in Washington Park today.

EDGE TO COLIMA OVER DAVE SHADE

Whittier Flash Makes Poor Start But He Finished Strong at Vernon

Bert Colima, the Whittier flash, did the unexpected last night at Jack Doyle's Vernon arena, and won by a shade over Dave Shade, welterweight championship contender in one of the best bouts ever witnessed at the historic arena. Shade took the first round, the second went to Colima, the third was even and Colima copped the fourth.

Colima got away to a poor start, but soon made up for it when he got going strong. Most of the fighting was at close quarters and both boys stood toe to toe and socked until their arms ached. It was a clean game of give and take, with Colima having a little the better of the giving end of the game.

George Lavigne was too good for Jimmy Marcus, and Jimmy took an old-fashioned lacing in the semi-windup bout. Kid Chile substituted for Ernie Hood in the special spot against Frankie Grandetta, and Chile copped the decision. Sid Marks and Al Gilmore put up a merry battle which was called a draw. Red Williams won over Paul Duarte, Young Lette bested Earl Clark, and Battling Bargas won from Danny Herrera.

Barnyard Golf Meet At Pasadena Planned

The fourth annual tournament of the California State Horseshoe pitchers will be held in Pasadena August 27, 28 and 29, 1924. Cash and other prizes will be given to the winners. A program of eight events is being arranged that will appeal to all classes of pitchers.

U. S. NET ARTISTS CONTINUE TO WIN

Mrs. Mallory Hopes to Play Helen Wills for Title Again This Year

By HARRY FLORY
For International News Service.

PARIS, July 16.—Mrs. Molla B. Mallory of the United States, playing for Norway in the Olympic tennis championships, advanced another step today in her ambition to meet Miss Helen Wills, California girl, who wrested the American championship from her last year, when she entered the fourth round by defeating Mrs. Bouman of Holland, 9-7, 6-0.

Vincent Richards, the Yonkers "boy wonder," advanced another step in the men's singles when he defeated Manuel Alonzo of Spain, three out of four sets. Scores, 7-5, 10-8, 2-6, 6-3.

Mrs. Marion Z. Jessup, United States, also entered the fourth round in the women's singles when she easily defeated Senorita Torras of Spain, in straight sets, 6-2, 6-0.

Say Quarters Poor

Julian S. Myrick, president of the American Lawn Tennis association, today served notice on the Olympic committee he would withdraw the American team from the Olympic tennis competition unless the committee immediately provided the American players with "civilized facilities."

Myrick said the quarters and dressing rooms were "absolutely inconvenient" that no drinking water was supplied for the players, there were no shower baths and no towels.

The conditions are affecting the morale of the American players, Myrick declared.

YANK SWIMMERS IN SEMI-FINALS

U. S. Olympic Entry Makes New 100-Metre Record For Backstroke

PARIS, July 16.—Two American swimmers went into the semi-finals of the hundred metre backstroke event in the Olympic contests today and a third won his heat, but was disqualified.

In winning his heat, Warren Kealoha of Honolulu made a new Olympic record, covering the distance in 1:13 4-5.

Paul Wyatt of Uniontown Y. M. C. A., won the third heat in 1:19 2-5. He and Kealoha will represent America in the semi-finals tomorrow.

Henry Luning of Honolulu, finished first in the second heat but was disqualified and first place was awarded to Bartha of Hungary.

Protest Is Filed

Manager John Taylor this afternoon protested to the Inter-Swimming the disqualification of Luning. He pointed out that the swimmers who yesterday "jumped the gun" in the breast stroke were recalled and permitted to start again.

In the elimination heats for the 200 metre breast stroke, for women, Miss Baron of Holland, who finished first, was disqualified for a bad touch at the other end of the tank, and first place was given to Agnes Geraghty of New York.

The White Sox cleaned up the series from the Red Sox, winning the final, 8 to 6.

The Tigers outslugged the Athletics to win, 11 to 9.

Multiple Listing Is Realty Board Topic

The operation of the listing system was the main topic at the weekly meeting of the Glendale Realty Board at the Alley Inn today, following the presentation of the report of W. A. Horn, chairman of the listing committee, who urged that the name be changed to Multiple Listing again. Another point that was raised by Mr. Horn was whether the term of the contract calling for sixty days should not be reduced to forty days on residence property, leaving business property at its present term of thirty days.

After a full discussion of the subject it was agreed that what was principally needed was more activity in the operation of the system by the board members, and a sustained interest in its workings.

A telegram from Charles B. Guthrie was read, bringing greetings from Portland, Ore.

W. S. Kirk, chairman of the fire committee, submitted the names of Jack Galvin, H. L. Finlay, W. E. Sawyer, B. F. Bolen, L. A. Hart and R. S. Henry as candidates for the position of fire chief of the board's unit in the Angeles Forest Protective association. The nominees will be voted on next week.

Gregory Vigeant, a member of the Kansas City Realty board, was introduced by W. P. Hope, and President Peter Hanson also presented his daughter, Miss Clarice L. Hanson, to his associates.

President Hanson has been appointed a member of the executive committee of the state association, it was announced by Secretary Jas. W. Pearson.

A tribute to the co-operation of the local newspapers in the work of the board was paid by President Hanson.

ATTORNEY WOULD SET TRIAL ASIDE

Two Jurymen In Geiler Case Disobeyed Orders of Court, Is Claim

The trial of Joseph H. Geiler of Los Angeles in the Glendale police court, on a reckless driving charge, was given a surprise ending yesterday afternoon, when, following a verdict of guilty by the jury, Attorney Bert P. Woodard, for the defense, made a motion the trial be set aside on the grounds that two jurymen had disobeyed the instructions of Judge Frank H. Lowe in viewing the wrecked cars that figured in the case. The motion will be argued at 11 o'clock next Monday norning, July 21.

The complaint in the case, sworn to by Orville C. Wheeler of 516 South Glendale avenue, set forth that the defendant "did knowingly and wilfully drive a motor vehicle on Central avenue, a public highway of the city of Glendale, in a rapid and reckless manner, and without due regard for the safety and lives and property of other persons, then and there on said highway."

Occupants Injured

The accident occurred at 6:15 o'clock the night of June 5, at the intersection of Central avenue and Harvard street. Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler were proceeding north on Central avenue and had turned west into Harvard street, when their machine was struck by the machine of Mr. Geiler, driven by himself, proceeding south on Central avenue, the testimony revealed.

Mrs. Wheeler was thrown out and sustained a compound fracture of the skull, while Mr. Wheeler sustained two fractured ribs, the testimony further revealed, Mr. Geiler escaping uninjured. The prosecution introduced eight witnesses and the defense two. The trial altogether consumed practically two days. The jury was out but a few minutes.

The charge on which Mr. Geiler was found guilty is violation of Section 121 of the California Vehicle act. Sentence of from five to ninety days in the county jail or a fine of from $25 to $250, or both, may legally be imposed for this offense, according to Leslie R. Tarr, deputy city attorney, who prosecuted the case.

Pastor Writes to Glendale Friends On European Trip

A card written in London, England, by Rev. Clifford A. Cole, pastor of the Central Christian church, was received yesterday by Floyd Mercer, acting pastor of the church.

Mr. Cole went abroad to attend the International Sunday school convention, June 16 to 26, in Scotland. When he wrote Mr. Mercer the convention was over, and he was anticipating leaving for the continent to visit Switzerland, Holland, Belgium and France.

He will start home shortly, and will visit in Montreal, Canada, before coming on across the continent. He plans to reach Glendale August 10.

Predicts Activity in Sales of Residences

A decided stiffening in house sales is observed by J. A. Endicott, realtor, 116 South Brand boulevard, who predicts that by fall practically every available house will be occupied and the largest building program Glendale has ever seen will be necessary to accommodate the additional thousands who will want to live here.

"Now is the time to buy," says Mr. Endicott, "and shrewd investors are making the most of an unprecedented opportunity. What we should do is to absorb the surplus of houses already on the market before building more."

Many of the investors are buying for cash, Mr. Endicott states. The response to local advertising is good, he declares, and the rental demand is for homes rather than for apartments or bungalow court units.

BUSINESS ETHICS IS HORN'S TOPIC

Realtor Speaks at Ad Club Meet; Musical Numbers Warmly Received

"Business Ethics" was the topic of the address delivered by W. A. Horn, realtor, before the Ad Club at last night's meeting in the Alley Inn, in which he stressed the fact that advertising must be supported by the highest standards of service, courtesy and reliability.

Other numbers on the program were a soprano solo, "Pale Moon," by Mrs. Ina Mitchell Butler; monologue, "On the Street Car," by Miss Bess Long; tenor solo, "All For You," by C. A. Coneforth, all of which were warmly received by the large audience that attended the meeting.

Souvenirs for Guests

A. E. Shirer, of the Owl Drug company, a member of the program committee, distributed valuable souvenirs of toilet accessories to the guests. Other members of the committee were Frank Hoopes, A. E. Cawood and Mrs. Edwin Labadie. President Ed N. Radke presided.

It was decided to change the time of meeting from Tuesday night to Tuesday noon, luncheon to be served at the Alley Inn at 12:10 p. m., sharp.

HIGHWAY SYSTEM TO BE DISCUSSED

City Manager Stone Included In Speakers' List at Oakmont Banquet

Acceptance of the invitations sent out for tonight's banquet of the Greater San Fernando Valley association at Oakmont Country club are reaching the Chamber of Commerce in such volume as to insure a representative turnout of the people of Glendale, according to Secretary E. F. Sanders this morning.

The name of Virgil B. Stone, city manager, has been added to the list of speakers, which includes the names of Mayor George E. Cryer of Los Angeles; H. S. Ryerson, secretary of the Los Angeles traffic commission; Hugh Pomeroy, of the county planning commission; Willis Owen, industrial expert; Robert L. Hanley, deputy city attorney of Los Angeles, and Senator Frank Flint, while A. Z. Taft, president of the association, will preside.

Object of Meeting

The principal object of the meeting is to stress the need for the rapid development of Riverside drive, San Fernando, Victory and Sepulveda boulevards, into a network of highways that will relieve the present traffic congestion and that will prove of immense material benefit to Glendale and the other cities of the San Fernando valley.

"The development of these boulevards," says George B. Karr, Glendale director, "is only the first step in the plans that are being considered for the improvement of the San Fernando valley. It has been considered best, however, to concentrate on the needed highways at first, and the other objects will be taken us as rapidly as possible."
